NEW ACTION DRAMA

Triple Frontier

From Wednesday 13 March, Netflix

Ben Affleck leads a team of former Special Forces soldiers on an epic heist in South America...

Ben Affleck heads the cast of Netflix's new adrenaline-fuelled thriller about five former Special Forces operatives who reunite to carry out a highly dangerous heist in South America.

Their plan is to steal $75million from the heavily fortified home of a notorious drug lord, and bring him down in the process.

The band of brothers have not seen each other for several years and, as they struggle with life after the military, each has their own reason for wanting the money. But when things don't go according to plan, tensions inevitably rise and the bond of trust is tested.

TV&Satellite Week caught up with Affleck, 46, to find out more about the action drama…

What appealed to you about Triple Frontier? It's an interesting story because you don't know whether to root for these guys or not. They get tempted by this job where they have the potential to make a lot of money and they also feel like they're doing something good, but is it good?

And what is it that drives your character, Tom Davis? He's divorced from his wife and they have a teenage daughter. He has a lot of frustration at not being able to provide for his family in the way that he really wants to do.

How does Triple Frontier differ from other action movies? There are some really nice surprises in the plot. Usually the studios will say to you, 'Here are the rules for this kind of movie. Here's what we can do and here's what we can't do.' But our director, JC Chandor, decided to break those rules, which makes you feel as though anything can happen. As a result, the story in Triple Frontier feels much more immediate, urgent and alive.

Garrett Hedlund and Charlie Hunnam as brothers Ben and William

For you, what was the highlight of making the film? That came when I started to work with real-life former Special Forces operatives who we met up with to research our characters. It was incredible to talk to them and to hear their stories. We wanted to convincingly replicate how they looked and how they moved while working, so we spent a lot of time with them.

And what did you learn during that process? They talked to us about being these extremely skilled high achievers who were very accomplished in the military, but how they would have to make a transition into another way of life when they returned home. Often that would be into a life that didn't use any of the skills that they'd developed over the past 20 years, or however long they had been in service. I found it really moving that they almost had to start over again when that ended.

How would you describe the team's relationship to money? In this movie, the allure of millions of dollars represents those very real moments when we're tempted to do something that goes against our personal values. However, I do think this is something everybody struggles with. In fact, that's what makes this movie really interesting, because it's about people and the choices they make and how these choices go on to define them.

But Triple Frontier is also about greed. Do you think that is a natural human trait? Yes, I do. More than 2,600 years ago, Buddha said that he wanted people to rid themselves of greed, hatred and delusion, so those things have obviously been around for a while. We're biologically programmed to want things. It's all tied up with our survival instinct.

Ben Miller
Garrett Hedlund
William's younger brother became a mixed martial arts fighter after leaving the military and is a very strong asset to the team.

Tom Davis
Ben Affleck
The ex-Special Forces operative can't afford to send his teen daughter to college, which motivates him to lead the heist.

Francisco Morales
Pedro Pascal
The pilot is dealing with a drug problem, a new baby and the suspension of his aviator's licence.

MONEY

The old colleagues are reunited for the heist

Are you greedy for anything in your own life? I'm greedy for more time. For me, spending time with my kids is the most important thing in my life and it's definitely the thing I chase after the most. Beyond that, I'm probably most greedy for work, for opportunities in my profession, which is always going to be hard. As an actor, you're always chasing that – there's no seniority; there's no tenure. You're just as good as the next script that falls into your hands. Though that can be exciting, too!

After a testing few years, what are your hopes for the future? I'm optimistic. Nothing in life is easy, but I've found that hard work and commitment can make it better. You can actually affect the outcome of your life by what you put into it, so I'm going to do my best in 2019. I'm very lucky. I have three amazing kids and they have an amazing mum [Affleck's ex-wife, actress Jennifer Garner]. On top of that, I also get to work with people that I really admire. So I'm just focusing on moving forward.

Wolves of Wall Street

Axe and Chuck forge an uneasy alliance to bring down their rivals in Billions...

NEW DRAMA
Billions
Wednesday, Sky Atlantic HD, 9pm

The ruthless world of hedge funds and high finance returns to our screens this week with the fourth season of US drama, Billions.

We left off with sworn enemies Chuck Rhoades (Paul Giamatti) and Bobby 'Axe' Axelrod (Damian Lewis) both in deep trouble.

While Chuck was fired from his job as US Attorney, arrogant hedge-fund manager Axe was furious at the decision of Taylor Mason (Asia Kate Dillon) to leave Axe Capital to set up a rival fund.

'Axe is increasingly paranoid,' says Lewis. 'For him, Taylor going is like one of his chicks leaving the coop. You bring them up, nurture them and then they fly away. Axe is infuriated someone could do that.'

UNLIKELY ALLIANCE

As Axe plots revenge against his ex-intern, he finds an unexpected ally when bitter adversary Chuck suggests they work together to achieve their aims.

'Chuck and Axe both want vengeance,' says Lewis. 'There is an unlikely alliance between them because they both need things.'

While Axe is out to destroy Taylor, Chuck wants to be State Attorney General, facing off with his own former protégé Bryan Connerty (Toby Leonard Moore), who was given Chuck's job.

'Chuck feels liberated by being fired, but wants to get back in the game, so he runs for state office,' says Giamatti. 'He is in danger of losing his political power and thinks it's a good idea to join up with Axe. But it's like two tigers in the zoo: they get along, but they could still go after each other.'

Asia Kate Dillon and Samantha Mathis as Taylor and Sara

Joining the show for the new 12-part season is Samantha Mathis as top executive Sara Hammon, who is brought on board by Taylor to help run the new company and protect it from Axe's hostility.

'As much as Taylor would like to be out of Axe's line of fire, it's not possible,' says Dillon. 'But Taylor is the type of person who functions best under pressure. The heat that's coming from Axe Capital is fuelling Taylor to work more efficiently.'

Since joining the show in season two as financial genius Taylor, Dillon has become well-known in the US for playing the first nonbinary character on American TV.

'Nonbinary is a term used by some people, myself included, who feel that their gender identity falls outside the traditional boxes of man or woman,' explains Dillon.

The 34-year-old is relishing the chance to play Taylor in Billions, despite the character's loathsome obsession with wealth and power.

'I grew up in a poor family and worked in restaurants for 17 years while trying to become a working actor,' says Dillon. 'Because I know what it's like to not have money, I turn down roles if I don't want to play them. I'd rather go pick up five days of work in a restaurant than do something I didn't like.'

FORCE for change

Nathan Fillion plays the LAPD's oldest rookie cop in Sky Witness' new drama...

With watch commander Sergeant Wade Grey

NEW CRIME DRAMA

The Rookie

Thursday, Sky Witness HD, 9pm

As wise-cracking author Richard Castle in the long-running US crime series Castle, Nathan Fillion was constantly sticking his nose into police investigations, to the annoyance of his partner in crime-solving, detective Kate Beckett.

In his latest TV incarnation, the 47-year-old actor gets to play detective for real as the oldest new recruit on the LA police force.

In The Rookie, Fillion plays 40-year-old divorcé John Nolan, who makes the life-changing decision to become a cop. After witnessing a bank robbery, he decides to close his construction company and move to California to start his life all over again.

FEELING NEEDED

'John is at a point in his life when he just wants to matter,' explains Fillion. 'Now he no longer needs to clothe and shelter a family, his job is superfluous. His experience during a bank robbery showed him that he absolutely needed the police to be there – if they weren't, he'd have died. And he's inspired to be relevant in that way.'

However, John's decision to do good is met by scepticism from some of his new colleagues, including watch commander Sergeant Wade Grey (played by Richard T Jones), who sees him as a walking mid-life crisis.

'For me, a mid-life crisis is about wanting to feel younger and buying a sports car,' laughs Fillion. 'But John knows the world is changing around him and that if you don't change with it, you get left behind. It's not a crisis, it's a chrysalis.'

AMAZING STORIES

The series was inspired by a real-life police officer, who Fillion met in order to get some advice. 'I wanted to find out how his perspective differed from that of his fellow rookies,' he says. 'You want some amazing stories? Talk to a cop.'

This week, John finds himself in at the deep end with a domestic-violence case and a deadly street shootout. So how did Fillion handle the physical part of playing a police officer?

'When Mission: Impossible – Fallout came out last year, there was a lot of press about how many of the stunts Tom Cruise did, which is really incredible,' he smiles. 'However, just kneeling down is a stunt for me.'

Morven Christie plays a conflicted family liaison officer in coastal crime drama The Bay

NEW CRIME DRAMA

The Bay

Wednesday, ITV HD, 9pm

'Leave your home life at home,' is the advice police officer DS Lisa Armstrong, played by Morven Christie, gives to a rookie early on in new ITV crime drama The Bay.

And as the story unfolds, it becomes clear that it's advice Lisa would do well to follow herself.

Set in the Lancashire coastal town of Morecambe, the backdrop to the series is the notoriously dangerous Morecambe Bay, where a group of Chinese cockle pickers lost their lives in 2004 when they were cut off by the incoming tide.

In the drama, the bay becomes the site of another, fictional tragedy when a pair of 15-year-old twins go missing. Christie's character is a family liaison officer (FLO) assigned to work with the traumatised parents, fisherman Sean Meredith (Jonas Armstrong) and pregnant mother Jess (Chanel Cresswell).

STUCK IN THE MIDDLE

But Lisa suddenly finds herself compromised by an unexpected personal connection. Her dilemma complicates the challenging work of a FLO, whose role is to support the distressed family and be a point of contact with the police, while also taking part in the ongoing investigation, in which the family may fall under suspicion.

'The FLO is essentially sitting in the middle, and could be seen as a cuckoo in the nest,' explains 37-year-old Christie, who played art restorer Amanda in Grantchester and the mother of an autistic boy in The A Word.

'Lisa is really good at her job, but she's also a human being who gets some things really right, and some really wrong. You see her personal life unravel alongside her professional life as the two collide.'

Since The Bay centres on a serious crime that rocks a coastal community, the drama has been dubbed 'the new Broadchurch'.

So does Christie agree? 'I haven't actually seen Broadchurch!' she laughs. 'I doubt they're similar, but people always want to find a similarity. When I first read the script, this felt really different because of where it is set and the characters, so that was refreshing.'

WORLDS APART

As with Broadchurch, the setting plays a key role in The Bay.

'You often have dramas set in generically northern towns, but this is specifically about Morecambe,' says Christie. 'It's beautiful, with this extraordinary coastline, and the landscape has a vastness to it. I grew up in the Highlands, and it's quite similar. The mood of the place changes when the clouds come in.'

The Bay also focuses heavily on the characters' domestic lives, including Lisa, who lives with her two teenage kids and her mother.

'So much of it is about families,' says Christie. 'There are these two women – Lisa and Jess – who, in lots of ways, have parallel lives. This puts you at the heart of how they are affected by what happens.'

Already in a tricky position thanks to her personal connection to the case, Lisa is not happy when her boss DI Manning (Daniel Ryan) saddles her with showing rookie Med (Taheen Modak) the ropes.

'On day one of this investigation, Lisa doesn't want to be dragging a newbie along with her,' Christie says. 'She's had a heavy night and has a hangover, and just wants to get on with the job. As the story unfolds, she becomes even less comfortable with Med's presence.'

While The A Word was set in the nearby Lake District, Christie says that the places are worlds apart. 'You can see the Lake District across the water, but that is full of wealthy middle-class walkers,' she says. 'When you move back from the sea, you start to see families that are struggling, and the story is set in the centre of that. But there is so much love in this story, and that's what's really important – the strength of family.'

Can Harry Redknapp get a team of retired football legends back into shape?

NEW ENTERTAINMENT

Harry's Heroes: The Full English

Monday & Tuesday, ITV HD, 9pm

Harry Redknapp enjoyed great success as a football manager and became 'king of the jungle' after winning last year's I'm a Celebrity, but he'll be facing one of his toughest ever challenges this week.

Redknapp, 72, will be returning to the touchline to coach a group of retired England internationals in a game against Germany. The two-parter follows his efforts as he tries to get the out-of-shape players back to match fitness.

'They'd let themselves go a bit,' says Redknapp. 'We had a match at the start against a team of 15-year-olds – I had to finish it early because I was so worried about them!'

For players such as David Seaman, Paul Merson, Neil 'Razor' Ruddock, Robbie Fowler and Chris Waddle, who were at their peak in the 1980s and 1990s, it was a shock to the system to adopt the training regimes and strict diets of modern footballers as they battled to shed the pounds. But Redknapp says he was more than happy to help get them in shape.

Matt Le Tissier in his heyday for England

Redknapp in his managerial days

'I had a bit of a heart scare a few years ago,' he explains. 'So I know how important it is for middle-aged people to stay fit and active. I have to admit I was a bit worried about Razor. I thought he was a heart attack waiting to happen!'

With former England legend John Barnes as his assistant, Redknapp even flew his squad out to a training camp in Spain.

'It was great to see the way some of the lads bought into it,' he says. 'Matt Le Tissier was amazing and lost 10kg, but they all did really well – though Razor went off on a cruise during filming and he may actually have put weight on. He split his shorts when he got back.'

Redknapp reckons his group of stars would take some beating if they were around today. 'I think they'd win the Premier League,' he says. 'A forward line of Waddle, Le Tissier, Fowler and Merson, they'd beat anyone.'

But can they turn it on against the Germans? You'll have to watch to the end to find out, but former England goalkeeper Seaman certainly had a score to settle.

'Euro 1996 was one of the highlights of my career,' Seaman, 55, recalls. 'But I still remember the pain of losing that semi-final against Germany. Hopefully we'll finally be able to get some revenge.'

Dara Ó Briain

Blockbusters

Thursday, Comedy Central HD, 8pm

The 47-year-old comic started out as a kids' TV presenter in Ireland in the 1990s. As well as hosting BBC2's Mock the Week since 2005, he's featured in Three Men in a Boat, Dara and Ed's Great Big Adventure and presented The Apprentice: You're Fired! A keen scientist with a degree in maths and physics, he's also hosted Stargazing Live with Brian Cox and School of Hard Sums with Marcus du Sautoy.

HIS NEW SHOW

This week, Ó Briain takes the helm of a reboot of much-loved quiz Blockbusters, originally hosted by the late Bob Holness. The new show follows the old format with students answering letter-based questions for the chance to go for the Gold Run and win prizes. 'I remember Blockbusters and Bob asking the questions,' says Ó Briain. 'I didn't apply to go on – I thought I'd play the long game and wait to host it! Our version is more gag heavy and was great fun to film.'

NEW DRAMA

Pose

Thursday, BBC2 HD, 9pm

Ryan Murphy is on a roll right now. The US writer-producer has scored big hits with his American Crime Story dramas and the ongoing chills of American Horror Story.

This week, he changes tack when his new eight-part BBC2 drama Pose enters the world of ballroom club culture in 1980s New York.

The series follows several 'houses' – alternate families run by 'mothers' and mostly made up of gay and transgender youths. Boasting the largest transgender cast in a TV drama, many of the stars are actually familiar with this hidden world.

'I started in the scene when I was 14,' says MJ Rodriguez, who plays Blanca. 'Ryan wanted to tell our stories how we lived them.'

After a spectacular opening scene in which dancers steal outfits from a museum for an underground ball, this week's episode sees Blanca being told she is HIV-positive.

'Blanca knows the cards are stacked against her,' says Rodriguez. 'But it's important to live and not just survive.'

The cast includes American Horror Story regular Evan Peters as Stan, a businessman who works in Trump Tower. Stan embarks on an affair with trans sex worker Angel (Indya Moore), but wants to keep it secret from his wife Patty (Kate Mara) and his boss Matt (Dawson's Creek's James Van Der Beek).

'There was a culture of greed in Manhattan at the same time as the ballroom scene,' says Van Der Beek. 'This shows what happens when the two worlds meet.'

NEW DRAMA

Proven Innocent

Monday, Universal HD, 9pm

For 20 years, Kelsey Grammer played lovably pompous psychiatrist Dr Frasier Crane in the hit comedy Cheers and its spin-off Frasier.

Since Frasier ended in 2004, Grammer has branched out into darker roles, including his latest as corrupt state attorney Gore Bellows in Universal's new legal drama Proven Innocent.

Seventeen years ago, Bellows prosecuted the then 18-year-old Madeline Scott (Rachelle Lefevre) and her brother for the murder of their friend. After 10 years behind bars, the verdict was overturned and the siblings were released.

Madeline is now a defence lawyer on a mission to exonerate people convicted of crimes they didn't commit and has teamed up with Ezekiel 'Easy' Boudreau (Russell Hornsby), the lawyer who got her freed. This means her coming up against Bellows, who still believes she's guilty...

TV&Satellite Week met up with Grammer, 64, to find out more...

Grammer as Frasier Crane

What attracted you to Proven Innocent? I liked that Gore Bellows is not your classic villain who's irredeemable. He's not a moustache-twirling evil prosecutor, but he's got blinders about Madeline. She's like the great white whale that got away. He can't stop thinking she's guilty, and since she's been let out, that needs to be remedied. There are also twists and turns that are classic mystery-solving stuff.

Bellows also has political ambitions, doesn't he? He's trying to become attorney general of Illinois but he doesn't have the power that, say, Tom Kane, the character I played in Boss, had. Tom Kane was the mayor and a big shark, Gore Bellows is a minnow.

How serious is the talk of Frasier coming back? We're talking to a few writing teams and if we find a network that wants to write a cheque, we might well have a decent third act for the Frasier trilogy.

What would the premise be? In the last episode, he went to Chicago to find his love, played by Laura Linney, and it seems to me you would have to pick up from what happened after his plane landed. One idea I thought was wonderful was that it went really well for them, but after 10 years they decided to go their separate ways. Another idea was he got there and she said, 'I'm marrying another guy!' Love was always elusive for Frasier and he was funny when he was not with anybody.

British actor Kingsley Ben-Adir on The OA's weird world

Karim (Kingsley Ben-Adir)

NETFLIX The OA

NEW Genre: Supernatural thriller Available: Friday 22 March Season: 2 Episodes: 8 Runs: 60mins (approx)
TVSW says: Compelling and groundbreaking

Stranger Things* might have stolen all the headlines, but there's another supernatural drama on Netflix that's well worth checking out.

The OA returns for a new series this week, picking up the mind-bending, dimension-hopping story of Prairie Johnson (Brit Marling), who was freed after being held in a cellar for seven years by scientist Hap (Jason Isaacs). He'd been experimenting on people who'd had near-death ordeals to see what happens to the human soul after we die.

Prairie (Brit Marling)

The first season ended with Prairie's fate in the balance after she was hit by a bullet, but as The OA resumes, her story collides with private eye Karim Washington (Kingsley Ben-Adir), who is investigating a missing teenager.

We caught up with British actor Ben-Adir, who's also starred in Vera and Peaky Blinders, to hear about his big US break…

How would you describe Karim? He's an isolated figure, living on a houseboat. But he is determined to get to the bottom of this missing-persons case. He eventually crosses paths with Prairie and it gets more and more weird.

Karim spends a lot of time driving around. How did you find that? The car was an automatic and really hard to drive. I got used to it in the end and wanted to keep it after the shoot, but it was too expensive to ship back home.

You must be thrilled to be joining such a big US show? It's what I have been working towards all these years. I'd been close to getting other big roles, so this is my first real opportunity. It was a challenge filming over so many months. I was whacked by the end and went off to India for a while to recover.

The OA* is made by Brad Pitt's production company. Did you have any dealings with him? Oh yeah, Brad wanted to have breakfast every day… No, not really. He was off doing other stuff.

Now that you're in a big US drama, will you have time for any more British shows? I have just finished filming the latest series of Peaky Blinders, but I've left Vera now. Brenda Blethyn is an absolute legend. She was so supportive and helped me so much along the way.

NETFLIX Queer Eye

NEW Genre: Makeover show Available: Friday 15 March Season: 3 Episodes: 8 Runs: 45mins (approx)
TVSW says: Confidence-boosting, feelgood and oh-so fun

It was only a year ago that Netflix relaunched Emmy-winning US show Queer Eye by sending out a new 'Fab Five' of experts to refresh ordinary people's style and self-esteem.

Now, the show is back for a third run, with Doncaster-born fashion expert Tan France and the gang heading to Kansas City to work their makeover magic.

'There's much more of a gender balance this time,' reveals France. 'We help as many women as men and the female stories are equally compelling. We also have our first duo – two sisters who are the most charismatic people you'll ever see on TV.'

France says that he's happy to give tips to his co-stars – food expert Antoni Porowski, interior designer Bobby Berk, culture vulture Karamo Brown and grooming guru Jonathan Van Ness – but only if they ask for it.

'Bobby and Ant will ask my opinion but Karamo and Jonathan are very headstrong with their fashion. They don't need my help,' he laughs.

However, France reveals that there is one downside to dishing out fashion advice.

'There is so much pressure on me to be stylish,' he says. 'Even on a 12-hour flight, I have to put a proper look together in case people think I look like a tramp.'

NETFLIX The Dirt

NEW Genre: Rock biopic Available: Friday 22 March Runs: 108mins
TVSW says: Outlandish, Spandex-clad escapades

With Bohemian Rhapsody taking awards ceremonies by storm, there's another highly entertaining rock movie to enjoy this week when The Dirt debuts on Netflix.

The film follows the antics of hard-living US metal band Mötley Crüe, who were notorious for their sex-and-drugs misbehaviour. Iwan Rheon, best-known as Ramsay Bolton in Game of Thrones, plays guitarist Mick Mars, with another British actor, Douglas Booth – who portrayed Boy George in BBC2 drama Worried about the Boy – playing bassist Nikki Sixx.

The real-life band were heavily involved in the making of the movie, which also stars Machine Gun Kelly as drummer Tommy Lee and The Punisher's Daniel Webber as lead singer Vince Neil, and even reunited to record new songs for the film's soundtrack.

'It was really important for us not to whitewash anything,' says Sixx. 'You've got four outrageous characters and it was important we didn't pull any punches.'

World of difference

Nine people share their experiences of how it feels to stand out from the crowd...

NEW REAL LIFE

The House of Extraordinary People

Mon-Wed, Channel 5 HD, times vary

For its new documentary series The House of Extraordinary People, Channel 5 has brought together nine strangers who, for one reason or another, tend to attract attention because of the way they look.

By gathering under the same roof in a house in Yorkshire, the idea is that the group will be able to open up to each other, share experiences of being different and gain inspiration from each other in terms of facing their fears.

Most of the housemates did not choose to be different, since their distinctive appearances are caused by medical conditions. However, for two of them, it is a positive choice they have made.

UNUSUAL MODIFICATIONS

Ted, 60, from Bristol, has many multicoloured facial tattoos and other body modifications that are designed to make him look like an exotic parrot. And while his is a pretty outlandish tale, amputee Dan's story is even more unusual.

When people first meet him, they usually assume he'd been in a car crash or lost his leg in some sort of accident. But Dan, 74, actually chose to have his left leg amputated when he was 65, after years of suffering with a little-known condition body integrity identity disorder (BIID).

'I hated the idea of having two legs ever since I was a small child,' he explains. 'I felt like I was an imposter in my skin, and the feeling kept getting more intense. I always wanted to be one-legged.'

While causing some sufferers to want to have limbs amputated, BIID makes others feel an intense desire to be blind, deaf or paralysed. Dan was diagnosed with the disorder in his late 50s and had therapy, but he was still so unhappy being able-bodied that he eventually found a surgeon in Thailand who agreed to remove his leg just below the knee.

MUTUAL ACCEPTANCE

'It's extreme, but I wanted to be happy in my skin, and now I am,' says Dan, who's from Wyoming, USA. 'I enjoy just about every aspect of being who I am now.'

Dan's hoping his participation in the series will help raise awareness of BIID. But how will the group react to him choosing to be disabled?

'If anything, I feel more accepted than I do with most other people,' he explains. 'We've all experienced being different and we react to that by being more accepting of others who are different.'

THE HOUSEMATES

1 Bashir
Born with vitiligo, 24-year-old Londoner Bashir has white patches on his skin. 'As I get older, my black spots flourish,' he says. 'I'm the Benjamin Button of vitiligo!'

2 Dan
Body integrity identity disorder caused Dan, 74, to realise his dream of having a healthy leg amputated. 'I've never had an instant of regret about the surgery,' he says.

3 Harnaam
Polycystic ovary syndrome has caused Harnaam, 27, to have thick facial hair. 'I'm not scared of anything, I'll talk to anyone,' she says. 'It's simple – I'm a bearded lady, get over it.'

4 Kristin
Kristin, 36, has primordial dwarfism and is 3ft 5.5in tall. She dislikes the fact that strangers stare and point at her. 'A lot of the time, I try not to notice what's going on around me,' she says.

5 Aly
With a height of nearly 7ft, Aly, 29, towers over her housemates. 'I'm 6ft 9in,' she says, 'and I try to own it but I also try to be graceful and considerate – as much as I can be.'

6 Rachael
Neurofibromatosis has given 43-year-old Rachael thousands of benign tumours on her skin. 'I'd like to have self-confidence without worrying what other people are thinking all the time,' she shares.

7 Rowdy
His legs were amputated when he was three, so Rowdy, 31, gets about on his hands. 'I would like to change the constant assumption that I can't do things,' he says.

8 Ted
Body-modification lover Ted, 60, has changed his appearance to look like a parrot. 'I wanted to look like a parrot because I love their colours and their characters,' he explains.

9 Lucas
Born with a facial deformity, Lucas, 22, has also appeared on C4's The Undateables. 'I want people to know that a personality is a much bigger thing than the way that someone looks,' he says.

The secret army of 'cleaners' who moderate what we see on social media

NEW FACTUAL

The Internet's Dirtiest Secrets: The Cleaners
Tuesday, BBC4 HD, 9pm

Exactly who is policing social-media content on the internet? This Storyville documentary hears from 'cleaners' working in Manila in the Philippines, whose job it is to trawl through thousands of Facebook, Google and Twitter posts every day, and decide whether to delete them.

CENSORSHIP

'They labour in the shadows of social-media platforms,' explains information studies expert Sarah Roberts. 'They are out of sight and out of mind.'

Talking anonymously to the film-makers, the 'cleaners' describe themselves as 'policemen.' But the question of what is and isn't moderated is hugely contentious.

LA-based artist Illma Gore says she had her social-media accounts shut down when she posted her painting of a nude Donald Trump, and photographer Khaled Barakeh says he had his images of child victims of the war in Syria censored.

'The social-media companies are deciding what's illegal and what's legitimate,' claims David Kaye, a UN specialist in freedom of expression.

As well as looking at how the cleaners' political and religious views may influence their decisions, the film examines the heavy toll the sort of material they have to view – from IS beheadings to child abuse – can have on their mental health.

'It was like a virus in me, slowly penetrating my brain,' says an ex-employee. 'I needed to quit.'

Sam Rockwell is in over his head as an American crook in London's gangland

CRIME CAPER

Sunday, Sky Premiere HD, 2.10pm & 10.10pm ★★★

There is something endearingly goofy about Sam Rockwell, and this British-made crime caper finds him in typically oddball form. He plays an American ex-con who is enticed into jumping the pond with a fellow parolee (Ben Schwartz) to pull off a score in London at the behest of Phoebe Fox's smart but gawky English lawyer.

The heist in question is a highly contrived and convoluted affair. Fox's Katherine owes money to big-time gangster Arkady (Peter Polycarpou) and to clear the debt she has to intercept a package being exchanged at the Natural History Museum – which is where Rockwell's Eddy and Schwartz's Paul come in. Naturally, the stick-up doesn't go exactly to plan…

The ensuing escapade won't tickle every funny bone. Some will find the combination of quirky comedy and gory thrills jarring, and the self-consciously tricky, self-referential narrative will annoy others – indeed, there are times when writer-director Hadi Hajaig is winking so hard at us you'd think he would sprain an eyelid.

But the uniformly excellent performances should draw you back in. Peter Ferdinando puts hilarious menace into the role of a violent East End crook who sports double denim and a Billy Ray Cyrus mullet, while Amanda Donohoe plays strikingly against type as his brassy Cockney mother. And Simon Callow is a hoot in a brief cameo as plummy Uncle Martin, sent with a trio of equally posh chums to eavesdrop on a gang of gorblimey criminals. Fox and Schwartz are great, too, as the gauche Katherine and mouthy Paul.

In the end, though, it is Rockwell who makes the movie; zany and playful, and carrying with him both a hint of vulnerability and a whiff of danger. 2018, 15, 101 MIN

Nobody could touch Jeremy when it came to playing tag

COMEDY

Tag

Friday, Sky Premiere HD, 12.20pm & 8pm ★★★

For one month every year, five middle-aged men give full rein to their inner child by resuming the game of tag they have been playing since the age of nine. This year, however, the stakes are higher: Jerry (Jeremy Renner), the only member of the gang never to have been tagged, is apparently planning to quit the game after his impending wedding…

Inspired by a true story, this knockabout comedy won't be for everyone, but its raucous silliness is good fun if it finds you in the right mood. The game cast certainly have a terrific rapport – with Hannibal Buress nailing laughs as the neurotic Sable, Ed Helms playing another of his gung-ho nerds as Hoagie, Jake Johnson oozing befuddlement as pothead Chilli and Jon Hamm turning on the smarm as conceited insurance company boss Bob.

Things get very crude and rowdy, but the slapstick stunts are impressively vigorous and the men's imperishable camaraderie comes across vividly. 2018, 15, 100MIN

Ryan Reynolds' wisecracking Marvel Comics superhero Wade Wilson, aka Deadpool, is back for his second solo adventure and it is every bit as outrageous, irreverent and fourth-wall breaking as before. This time around he has to contend with Josh Brolin's time-travelling cyborg, Cable, assembling a rag-tag band of would-be daredevils, including Zazie Beetz's blithely sassy Domino, to help him. Also on Sunday-Friday. 2018, 15, 119MIN

It may be brash, loud and laughably anachronistic, but this stylised crime thriller's version of 1940s Los Angeles history is undeniably entertaining. Very loosely based on real events, the film revolves around an elite band of two-fisted, straight-shooting cops, led by Josh Brolin's square-jawed war veteran and Ryan Gosling's skirt-chasing sergeant, who are brought together to bring down Sean Penn's ruthless Mob boss Mickey Cohen. 2013, 15, 113MIN

But as her enemies draw closer to her secluded ranch she is forced to call on the help of the embittered Civil War veteran who was once her fiancé (Joel Edgerton). A strange, hallucinatory film about a restless teenager (Ann Skelly) in a dead-end Irish seaside town. Writer-director Aoife McArdle has a background in music videos and commercials, and her first feature film is more about evoking mood than shaping a straightforward story. This detailed depiction of the final days of the Third Reich has been criticised for humanising Adolf Hitler. Yet, if anything, the fact that the architect of the Final Solution stands revealed as a man and not some mythic demigod renders his actions and ideology all the more monstrous. This is a brave and impeccably moral film that dares to peer into one of the darkest corners of history, capped by an astonishing performance by Bruno Ganz, who died in February, as Hitler. The Hate U Give

Amandla Stenberg's 16-year-old is adept at navigating the social divide between her poor, mostly black home neighbourhood and the rich, mostly white school she attends. But her two worlds collide when she witnesses the fatal shooting of her childhood best friend at the hands of the police. Based on the best-selling novel by Angie Thomas, this coming-of-age story is both an accessible teen movie and topical drama. 12, 113MIN

PREMIERE

FANTASY ADVENTURE

Fantastic Beasts: The Crimes of Grindewald

Available from Monday ★★★

Sex ●●● Violence ●●● Language ●●●

Eddie Redmayne's bashful hero Newt Scamander is back for the second episode of the new series spun from JK Rowling's expanding Potterverse. But as Newt and his allies get drawn deeper into the gathering storm brought about by dark wizard Grindelwald (Johnny Depp), the story tends to be overwhelmed by Rowling's prodigiously inventive flair. 2018, 12, 134MIN

Nina
★★★

A French teacher (Julia Kijowska) is struggling to have a child with her husband (Andrzej Konopka), but when the couple hit upon a free-spirited young lesbian (Eliza Rycembel) as a potential surrogate, Nina lights a fuse that will ignite unexpected desires and explode her marriage. The film is overlong, but the female stars have terrific chemistry. Subtitled. 15, 140MIN

Slaughterhouse Rulez

A band of plucky public school pupils, including Finn Cole's working-class northerner, fight for survival against subterranean monsters in this larky but very gory horror comedy, from the production company of Simon Pegg and Nick Frost. They also have roles, along with Michael Sheen and Margot Robbie. The movie is very hit-and-miss, but is sufficiently weird and rowdy to be fun. 15, 103MIN

Triple Frontier
★★★

PREMIERE (Available on Netflix from Wed) Five US Special Forces veterans – Oscar Isaac, Ben Affleck, Charlie Hunnam, Garrett Hedlund and Pedro Pascal – reunite to pull off the ultimate high-stakes heist in this muscular crime thriller. Inevitably, the mission hits unforeseen snags, loyalties get strained and things turn sour... The action has suitable heft, but the movie is very formulaic. See Feature, Page 4. 15, 125MIN

Widows

PREMIERE (Available from Mon) Steve McQueen, the director of 12 Years a Slave, teams up with Gone Girl author Gillian Flynn for a heist thriller starring Viola Davis and Michelle Rodriguez. Based on Lynda La Plante's iconic 1980s TV series and relocated to Chicago, the movie doesn't entirely pull off its uneasy mix of gloss and grit, and its twists are far too blatantly signposted to generate any suspense. 15, 130MIN

Wildlife

PREMIERE (Available from Mon) Carey Mulligan and Jake Gyllenhaal will really wring your heart in this achingly sad movie about a crumbling marriage in early-1960s Montana. And so, too, will young Australian actor Ed Oxenbould as the couple's emotionally bruised son. Director Paul Dano adapted the film with his actress partner Zoe Kazan from the book by acclaimed US novelist Richard Ford. 12, 105MIN

THE MAIN EVENT

F1: Australian Grand Prix

As the new season gets underway in Melbourne, Sky Sports' Martin Brundle gives us six reasons to be excited...

LIVE MOTORSPORT

Sun, Sky Sports F1 HD, Main Event HD & Sky One HD, race starts 5.10am

British world champion Lewis Hamilton roars back on to the track on Sunday with the start of the new Formula One season in Melbourne.

This season could be the most exciting for years with new aerodynamic regulations being introduced to create more wheel-to-wheel racing and overtaking.

'The cars will look different with wider, but simplified, front wings,' says former F1 driver and Sky Sports expert Martin Brundle. 'This season is all about change, with lots of new team pairings and some fearsomely fast young drivers.'

Here, Brundle picks his big talking points ahead of race one…

LEWIS THE LEGEND

Mercedes' Lewis Hamilton is chasing a sixth F1 championship. Will he be motivated to make history or will he take his foot off the gas?

Five-time winner Lewis Hamilton

'Lewis has reached the perfect crossover point of experience, fitness, bravery, race craft and technical knowledge,' says Brundle. 'I wouldn't be surprised if he matches or surpasses Michael Schumacher's seven world titles before he retires.'

NEW-LOOK GRID

Mercedes and Haas are the only teams to field the same driver pairing in 2019 as they did in 2018. This season will feature plenty of drivers in new colours, including Daniel Ricciardo, who switches from Red Bull to Renault. 'Never underestimate Daniel. Renault will win a race or two and reduce the gap between them and Mercedes, Ferrari and Red Bull,' says Brundle.

YOUNG BRITS

This year, 20 per cent of the drivers are rookies, including British newcomers Lando Norris at McLaren and reigning Formula 2 champ George Russell at Williams. 'They are the best-prepared young drivers ever to enter F1,' says Brundle. 'Neither will be in front-running cars, but they still have a chance to shine.'

FIRED-UP FERRARI

With talented 21-year-old Charles Leclerc teaming up with Sebastian Vettel, can the Scuderia catch up with Mercedes? 'Ferrari have a unique pressure from their home fans and the media,' explains Brundle. 'Providing they hit the sweet spot with the new aero regulations, they should be championship contenders again.'

McLaren's Lando Norris

POLE POSITION

Robert Kubica returns to F1 after an absence of eight years. The Polish driver is lining up for Williams after he nearly lost his arm in a horrific rallying accident in 2011. 'It's a fairy-tale story,' says Brundle. 'He's worked long and hard to get back in physical shape for the demands of F1.'

POWER PLAY

After underperforming using Renault engines, Red Bull will be switching to Honda power this year. 'It's now or never for Red Bull and Honda. There is nowhere else to go if this doesn't work,' reveals Brundle. 'I expect them to win races in 2019 and be championship contenders in 2020.'

2019 RACE CALENDAR

This year, Sky Sports has live TV rights for all 21 races. C4 will show live coverage of the British Grand Prix, and broadcast a highlights package of the other races on Sunday evenings.

LIVE CHAMPIONSHIP

Leeds United v Sheffield United

Saturday, Sky Sports Football HD & Sky Sports Main Event HD, kick-off 12.30pm

With both sides pushing for automatic promotion to the Premier League, there is plenty at stake in this Yorkshire derby. Blades midfielder Kieran Dowell has been a revelation since joining on loan from Everton.

LIVE PREMIER LEAGUE

Fulham v Liverpool

Sunday, Sky Sports Premier League HD & Sky Sports Main Event HD, kick-off 2.15pm

Despite the efforts of sacked boss Claudio Ranieri, Fulham look doomed to make a swift return to the Championship. The Whites lost 2-0 at Anfield in November with Mohamed Salah and Xherdan Shaqiri on target for the title-chasing Reds.

LIVE PREMIER LEAGUE

Everton v Chelsea

Sunday, Sky Sports Premier League HD & Sky Sports Main Event HD, kick-off 4.30pm

Chelsea might make some changes following their long-haul trek to Kiev for the Europa League last week. Ross Barkley is likely to get a mixed reception when he returns to Goodison Park for the first time since leaving the club last season.

Attracts bees and butterflies

Veronica spicata 'Bubblegum Candles'

A recent introduction, Veronica spicata 'Bubblegum Candles' is a free-flowering variety that makes a fabulous patio plant. Short, pink flower spikes are borne in profusion throughout summer above the bright green foliage. This neat little perennial has a compact, clump-forming, spreading habit that works beautifully in containers or planted at the front of borders. Also makes a useful plant for wildlife areas where it attracts bees and butterflies.

Height: 20cm (10"). Spread: 30cm (12").

Agnes 91, swears by VIGO Joint Gel for her painful arthritic hands

"If this soothing joint gel works for me, it will work for anyone!"

Agnes has been using Vigo Joint Gel for over a year. She wouldn't be without it now.

AGNES is truly an amazing woman, full of life and energy. You can only hope to be as fit and well as she is when you reach 71, never mind 91!

Sitting with Agnes in her living room in Colchester, I asked her what was her secret for staying young. She told me, "Keeping busy and having an active life is very important. But I've not always been able to do that. If you'd seen me a year ago, things were very different".

"Up until I was 86 I felt fit as a fiddle but then it seemed I had one problem after another". I asked her what happened.

"My body started deteriorating, I think it all started after a fall I had on the high street, I don't know how it happened but I tripped and next thing I knew I was flat on my face. Lots of people came over to help me but I was mortified. My left knee was in agony and my ankle was painful too – my hands and wrists were really sore. Thankfully someone drove me home.

"I thought I'd be fine the next day but I was still in agony so I went to see my GP. He said that I'd twisted my ankle and badly bruised my knee, hands and wrists, but it should heal in a few weeks if I rested.

I started getting pains in my hands, like a throbbing pain.

"The next few weeks I was climbing the walls having to stay indoors, and my son John kept telling me off for not resting enough. Anyway my ankle healed but my knee always gave me problems after that.

"Oh well I thought, a dodgy knee isn't the end of the world, worse things can happen. Then one day I started getting pains in my hands, like a throbbing pain, but as the weeks went by it got worse – some days the pain was excruciating.

"My GP had confirmed that I had arthritis in my hands, and that the only thing I could do to ease the pain was to take painkillers and anti-inflammatories. The last thing I wanted to do was rely on painkillers for the rest of my life, but some days I had to, I could hardly button up my blouse or open a jar of coffee, never mind do any gardening. I felt totally useless and realised I was going to lose my independence.

"I'd tried to hide the pain from John, I didn't want him to worry, but one day he turned up unexpectedly and found me sobbing in the kitchen."

Two weeks after our melt down John handed me a tube of gel.

Hard to believe when Agnes looks so spritely now. So what happened to turn her health around? Agnes said:

"That day John held me in his arms and cried with me. It was heart breaking; I never wanted to be a burden to him. He said I could move in with him but I wouldn't have it. John knows how stubborn and independent I am, so he said he was going to get the best help he could find, so that I could manage at home.

"To be honest, I thought he was going to get 'meals on wheels' or something like that. Two weeks after our melt-down he came to see me and handed me a tube of gel. I could have laughed – what was he thinking? Unknown to him I'd tried every cream, potion, pills and gel under the sun. I had spent a fortune, but none of them gave me much relief. To make him happy I said I'd give it a go. He could see I was not convinced.

"He told me that he'd researched the best products for arthritis, and he came across VIGO Joint Gel. I'd never heard of it. He told me it contained proven ingredients that were anti-inflammatory and reduced pain and could even help repair damaged joints. I'd already heard of the benefits of Glucosamine, Menthol and Zinc, but there were other ingredients I'd never heard of. He said the results and reviews were incredible and he insisted that I had to use it twice a day."

"Did you use it?" I asked.

"I did, he'd gone to all the trouble to find it so I had to give it a go. I put it on my knee and hands that evening before going to bed. The next morning I didn't wake up until 9.00 – I had slept right through. I couldn't believe it; normally the pain in my hands keeps me awake. It didn't really dawn on me that it was because of the gel, I thought it was because I'd felt so drained lately.

It had made the pain in my knee and hands completely disappear.

"I put the Joint Gel on that morning, I didn't want John telling me off! In the afternoon I'd run out of milk so I went to the shops for a few things. I fully expected the normal painful walk and having to struggle to carry the shopping bag home, but I was fine, no painful joints. Maybe this was working I thought, I hoped.

"I carried on using the VIGO Joint Gel twice a day. By Sunday I felt marvellous, in fact so good that I thought I'd tackle the weeding in the garden, as it had got into a right mess. In the afternoon John are doing, you shouldn't be doing that'. Well I sprang up and gave him a big hug and thanked him. What for? He asked. I told him that the gel he bought had worked wonders, that it had made the pain in my knee and hands completely disappear.

"I've been using it ever since, I wouldn't be without it. There is the odd day when I still get a niggle or two, but nothing in comparison to what I went through before. I'm so grateful to John for finding this incredible gel and to the company who developed it, it truly is life changing."

Before I left she told me, "If it works for me at 91, I'm sure it would work wonders for anyone else."

VIGO Joint Gel is exclusively available from VIGO, to order call 0800 138 3515. It comes with a full, 90-day money-back guarantee.

Chimerica

Alessandro Nivola stars in a tense international drama

FIRST LOOK

The cast includes Sophie Okonedo and Terry Chen

Alessandro Nivola plays Lee, an American photographer

Here are the first intriguing shots from C4's four-part thriller Chimerica, which is set to air later this Spring.

Based on Lucy Kirkwood's award-winning play and set during the run-up to the 2016 US presidential election, the drama centres on American photojournalist Lee Berger, played by Alessandro Nivola. His career was made when he took an iconic photo of a young man, dubbed 'Tank Man', who stood up to the Chinese military in Tiananmen Square nearly 30 years earlier. But when Lee is accused of doctoring one of his images, he fights to clear his name by trying to track down Tank Man in New York City.

Cherry Jones co-stars as Lee's colleague, recovering alcoholic Mel Kincaid, and Sophie Okonedo is market analyst Tessa Kendrick, who encounters Lee in China and the Big Apple.

F Murray Abraham is Lee's mentor, news editor Frank Sams, Terry Chen is Zhang Lin, Lee's friend when he was in China, and Ty Simpkins plays the young Lee.

'Since I wrote the original play in 2013, the questions it raises have only acquired greater relevance,' says Kirkwood. 'It's thrilling to look at our changing relationship with journalism, power, protest, and images themselves.'

WHAT'S NEXT FOR...

Dawn French

The star will appear in ITV drama Glass Houses as inquisitive Maggie Connors, who rocks her close-knit Devon town by gossiping on the radio. The cast also includes Mark Heap and Julie Hesmondhalgh.

Stacey Dooley

The documentary-maker and Strictly winner will meet bounty hunters and explore the US bail system in BBC3 Online's Stacey Dooley and the Bounty Hunters: The Good, The Bad and The Deadly.

Coming Back

BBC1's Caribbean crime drama Death in Paradise will return for a ninth and a 10th series. Ardal O'Hanlon will be back as DI Jack Mooney, while Aude Legastelois, AKA DS Madeleine Dumas, will now be a regular.

Action-packed drama Strike Back will return for an eighth and final series on Sky One. Starring Warren Brown (right) and Jamie Bamber, the show's seventh run is currently airing on Thursdays at 9pm.

IN PRODUCTION...

Bulletproof

Filming is underway on the second series of Sky One's hit drama, with Ashley Walters and Noel Clarke back for more thrills, spills and car chases as buddy cops Pike and Bishop. 'The action and drama are about to step up to the next level,' says Walters.

'They are on a mission again,' adds Clarke. 'The show that Ashley and I created is the hottest show on Sky. Hard work and believing in yourself can make things happen.'

Next week On Sale Tuesday 19 March
